Arab 'Neutral Bloc' Backs Jordan In Severing Last Tie To Britain

Inauguration Is Start Of Quadrennial

WASHINGTON — UP — The nation's capital today opened the first phase of its quadrennial spectacular — the inauguration of a president.

The three-day celebration officially begins tonight with a million dollar variety show expected to attract so many people that it will be held in two places.

More Displays Of Air Power Seen By U.S.

World Jaunt Sets Precedent For Demonstrations

WASHINGTON — UP — More global demonstrations of American air-atomic power can be expected to follow the historic around-the-world flight of B-52 hydrogen bombers, military authorities said today.

They saw the first non-stop jet circuit of the earth as one in a series of maneuvers that will make their significance felt in the Kremlin and will buoy up allied confidence in American power to deter war.

Only 45 Hours

Three of the huge B-52 Stratofortresses winged into March Air Force Base, Cal., Thursday to complete a 24,325-mile flight that took 45 hours 19 minutes at an average speed of more than 535 miles an hour. They simulated a bomb drop halfway through the mission (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Good Evening!

Weather better. Relax.

Mercury headed for low thirties today and even higher tomorrow. After the past week it'll seem like springtime.

Sign of an early one maybe? Bluejay chasing a squirrel in the yard of the old homestead this a.m. and a robin chirping to the skies from atop an ancient maple.

Russians beware.

That historic nonstop flight by three U.S. jet stratofortresses around the world in just 45 hours should cause the Kremlin gangsters sober pause in their vodka bingeing.

There it is—dramatic proof of Uncle Sam's ability to stick any kind of a bomb—A, H, or matchstick—on any target anywhere in the world.

Air progress? Just 45 hours for a trip around the world. No stops. Back in 1924 three fragile bi-planes made a similar historic trip. It took 'em 175 days.

Twp. Police Force Plans Outlined

1st Annual Report Of Safety Committee Lists Future Goals

By GORDON PARKER
Courier and Times Staff Writer

An expanded police force and services, a new police headquarters and a police pension fund are among the goals of the Bristol Township Safety committee, according to chairman Harold Lefcourt.

Mr. Lefcourt briefly outlined the program in an opening letter on the first annual report of the committee. The report, the first of its kind prepared in Bristol township, was presented at the last meeting of Board of Commissioners.

Purpose of Report

As stated in the introduction of the annual report, its purpose is to "evaluate the general strengths and weaknesses" of the police department, to "determine the general direction," in which the force is moving and to give the commissioners and residents a picture of the operations of the department.

The report, which was 23 pages, lists the department expenditures, equipment, facilities and personnel. In addition it discusses the training program for officers, actions of the Board of Commissioners to help the force, plans for the future. The report of each department head within the force is also included.

The report shows that the safety committee spent $244,992.79 last year. More than 1/2 of this—$123,553.58—went in salaries for the 22 officers, six sergeants and chief. The next highest item was $27,000 in contributions to the township's five fire companies.

Maintenance Cost

As an interesting sidelight the report shows that it cost $14,226.28 to provide gas, oil and maintenance for the department's six cars and truck.

The report "urgently" requests that the commissioners complete arrangements to obtain the Community Building at Bristol Terrace from the U.S. government for a new police headquarters.

"The present building is totally inadequate to meet our present needs," the committee states. The unit's reports add that if the Terrace building is not available the commissioners should take steps to erect a new building.

Preparing Examinations In the line of expanding the police services the committee states that it is preparing examinations for the post of detective. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

Wintry Weather Invades Florida

A belt of wintry air that has coated most of the nation with a layer of frost puffed into Florida today as it departed from the north-central area.

Temperatures scooted up to 10 to 20 degrees higher early today than yesterday in a large section of land extending from the Southern Plains into the upper Mississippi Valley states. The cold air, however, penetrated into hitherto balmy Florida. Tampa shivered in a nighttime climate of 36 degrees, and Cross City, Fla., residents were victims of 20 degree cold.

Levittown Girl Injured In Fall

A Levittown girl suffered a concussion yesterday morning, while waiting for the bus to take her to William Penn Jr. High school. Wanda Tennesen, 14, of 157 North Park drive, was reported in "fair" condition last night at Lower Bucks County hospital.

Falls Township police said she was crossing the street, at North Court lane, when she slipped on the ice and snow, at 9:30 a.m. Levittown Emergency Squad took her to the hospital.

'First Lady' of N.J.

The new "First Lady" of New Jersey, Helen Stevenson, radiates the glow of a bride as she poses in her wedding gown before her marriage today to New Jersey Gov. Robert Meyner.

Meyner To Marry In Oberlin Today

OVERLIN, Ohio — UP — Helen Dani Stevenson, a 28-year-old, statuesque brunette and distant cousin to Adlai Stevenson, becomes the first lady of New Jersey today.

Robert B. Meyner, New Jersey's 48-year-old Democratic governor, and the blue-eyed daughter of Oberlin college President William E. Stevenson, exchange wedding vows this afternoon.

The single ring open church ceremony, was to be performed in historic First Congregational Church on the campus here where their romance began.

The couple first met when Meyner spoke to the college's Democratic mock political convention last May.

Later, the two dated in New York when Dani went there to work in Adlai's political head-

The wedding rehearsal dinner was held last night and more than 55 out-of-town friends and relatives attended. The menu included filet mignon and champagne.

Among the gay guests was Stevenson, who arrived in Cleveland earlier by plane. He hugged Dani and chatted with prominent Democrats from New Jersey.

Stevenson, twice Democratic presidential nominee, shunned reporters, saying he didn't want to take any of the spotlight away from Dani.

The former Illinois governor, a cousin to the bride by marriage on her mother's side, gave Dani a gold lorgnette chain, set with pearls, as a wedding present.

Fire Causes $2500 Damage

A large wooden vat burned at the L. D. Davis glue works, Route 13 and Haines road, Edgely, last night in a fire that sent smoke out the roof and twisted a steel beam, at about 9:30 p.m.

The Edgely Fire company under Chief John Dester, used a wrecking bar to break a padlock at the gate to enter the plant property, and unreeled hose the length of the building to enter by a door near the north end, at Route 13.

Levittown No. 2 and the Third District fire companies joined the Edgely firemen on the scene, with local rescue squads.

The firemen put the flames out quickly, then wetted down wooden plants near the vat and remained until the plant owners arrived.

Reds Says Pills Don't Cure Ills

MOSCOW — UP — Americans consume $10 million worth of pills yearly to escape the "ghastly reality" of their lives, a Soviet trade union newspaper said today.

The newspaper Gudok described the latest American pill, "For Peace of Mind," as making most "peaceful" only the pill's manufacturers, who are pocketing fat profits.

The paper said the pills actually cause Americans to become more frenzied and many people must visit mental hospitals as a result.

Subsidy Pact Puts Halt To English Aid

CAIRO — UP — Leaders of the four-power Arab "Neutral Bloc" signed an agreement today permitting Jordan to sever its last remaining ties with Britain.

The agreement, signed by leaders of Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia, and Jordan, will provide Jordan with a $75 million yearly subsidy to replace Britain's long-term financial aid agreement. The Arab agreement will run 10 years.

'Summit Talks'

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Saudi Arabia's King Saud, Syrian Premier Sabri El Assali, and young King Hussein of Jordan signed the new pact at the closing session of a two-day round of "summit" conferences.

Jordan announced last week it was prepared to renounce the British agreement which provided an annual subsidy of $35,140,000 in return for the right to keep British bases in Jordan.

Today's agreement ended months-long efforts by Egypt, Saudi Arabia, and Syria to win Jordan as a full member of the "Neutralist Bloc" of Arab States opposing the northern tier Baghdad Pact, which embraces the Moslem nations of Turkey, Iran, Iraq, and Pakistan.

Under the agreement, Egypt and Saudi Arabia each will contribute $14 million a year in financial aid and Syria will contribute $7 million.

Other Topics

Today's announcement also said the four leaders discussed the Eisenhower doctrine, Israel's refusal to withdraw from the Gaza strip and Gulf of Aqaba areas, the Suez canal, the Anglo-French and Israeli attack on Egypt, Jordanian affairs and the Arab stand on Middle East problems in general.

Informed sources said Saudi was expected to inform Mr. Eisenhower of decisions reached by the four powers on his proposed plan for halting Communist expansion in the Middle East.

The Arab Big Four meeting was held as Russia and Communist China promised "necessary support" to the Middle East as a counter-move to the Eisenhower doctrine. It was not known if the Communist proposal was included in the discussions.

Open Meeting Set By Women Voters

"Focus on the Future" will be the theme of an open meeting to be sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Bristol Township Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock in William Penn Center. Speaker for the evening will be W. Edwin Collier of the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia.

The meeting to which the entire community is invited, is prompted by the League's concern over the current world crisis and is intended to arouse public interest and discussion of the United Nations and of the requirements for a sound United States foreign policy for the future. A question and answer period will follow Mr. Collier's talk.

Constructive Thinking
The League states: "The present crisis has brought home to everyone the possibility of a third world war, the destruction of everything we value. Because the danger is great, the opportunity is also great. Our job is to seize upon the concern aroused by the crisis and turn this concern into constructive thinking about U.S. foreign policy; to bring about a clear focus on the Future."

Mr. Collier was born in England, educated at Oxford University and ordained in the Protestant Episcopal Church of England. He came to the United States in 1934 and became a citizen in 1942. Having resigned from the Episcopal Church in London, and was subsequently appointed director and leader of the Philadelphia Ethical Society.

GOP To Talk Battle Ideas

WASHINGTON —UP— The Republican National committee assembled today to talk about ways of winning the 1958 congressional elections and who will head up the campaign as party chairman. The committee members—gathered here to attend President Eisenhower's second inauguration—scheduled two closed sessions during the day.

Will Meet Tuesday
They will meet again Tuesday to elect a successor to GOP national chairman Leonard W. Hall, who has submitted his resignation, effective Feb. 1.

Hall planned to appoint a seven-man subcommittee to confer with Mr. Eisenhower, probably Tuesday, about election of a new chairman.

H. Meade Alcorn Jr., Connecticut national committeeman, was still regarded in informed quarters as the probable choice for the job despite the development of some opposition to him.

The "bombs" could have been dropped anywhere on the earth, the Strategic Air Command pointed out.

SAC is slated to get 11 B52 wings, each with 45 bombers. Several hundred jet-propelled tankers will be built to replace the obsolescent piston-engine planes now used for in-flight refueling.

Possibilities
Within a single day such a force could fly missions of 12,000 miles and deliver on distant targets nuclear weapons with the destructive power of billions of tons of TNT.

President Eisenhower put maintenance of such air-atomic forces to deter aggression at the top of U.S. defense missions in the new budget just sent to Congress. The round-the-world flights were taken as visible evidence of that war-detering power.

CHILD CUTS NOSE
Caney von Blum, three and one-half years old, of 96 Village lane, Levittown, was given first aid treatment by the Levittown Emergency Squad yesterday after being cut on the bridge of the nose.

made charges of malfeasance, misfeasance, and non-feasance in office against:

Democrat
G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh Democrat and present commission chairman.

Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale Republican and McSorley's predecessor as head of the agency.

James F. Torrance, Export, a Republican member and its former secretary.

The inclusion of McSorley's name in the voluminous presentment, although on a comparatively minor charge, came as a surprise and may embarrass the administration of Gov. George M. Leader. An appointee of the governor, he was designated chairman when the Democrats took over control of the agency last May.

Allowed Driver
McSorley was charged with "willfully and corruptly" permitting Daniel J. Dalto, a commission employe, to serve as chauffeur for Evans, his family, and friends, for an eight-month period in 1955-56.

The jurors said Dalto was paid $2,800 during that period from commission funds for services which did not benefit the agency.

Started Last Year
The Democratic state administration sparked the investigation last September when it charged the commission while under GOP control was defrauded of more than $9,000,000 through subsequently cancelled contracts held by the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., Reading, for filling in abandoned coal mines under the Northeastern Extension.

The special grand jury, consisting of 17 Republicans and two Democrats, climaxed 38 days of taking testimony from 66 witnesses with its report to Acting President Judge William H. Neely, and Judges Walter R. Sohn and Homer L. Kreider.

The court told the jurors they are to reconvene Jan. 28 to consider whether they wish to inquire further into other alleged irregularities in turnpike affairs. In the meantime, the court will decide whether to ask District Attorney Huette F. Dowling to draw up indictments for consideration by the regular January grand jury now in session.

Court Orders Case Review

President Judge Edward G. Biester this week ordered the records of Justice of the Peace Earl Dougherty, Edgely, reviewed concerning an alleged speed law violation by a Levittown man.

The Levittowner, Philip McCallum, 292 Appletree drive, claims JP Dougherty acted illegally in sending him an information on the speeding violation through certified mail.

McCallum, represented by Attorney William Power, Doylestown, also claims Dougherty did not act according to law in sending him the information after the prescribed period provided by law.

Judge Biester granted a writ of certiorari to McCallum ordering that the records and proceedings in the case be reviewed in court.

McCallum's appeal is based specifically against the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue, which has specific authority in motor vehicle violations.

The petition points out that JP Dougherty, on information by Bristol township police filed on Oct. 4, mailed notice of a speeding violation to McCallum on Oct. 18, at least a week beyond the deadline for such action, according to McCallum's petition.

His attorney claims that state law requires that a registered letter, and not a certified one, be mailed to a defendant within seven days after an information has been filed by police. Such a law would require that McCallum should have been notified by Oct. 11, according to the petition.

Township police charged McCallum with going 45 miles per hour in a 35-mile-per hour zone on Edgely avenue.

60 LB Adults Registered In Institute's High School

Over 60 Lower Bucks County residents have enrolled in the School of High School Studies in the Falls Institute for Liberal Studies of the William Penn Center.

Marius Livingston, director, said today that the philosophy of the high school division of the Institute is to enable those adults who quit school, either through disinterest when younger or because they had to go to work, to receive a diploma after taking State examinations at Doylestown.

Two hour courses a week for 16 weeks are offered from 6 to 8 and from 8 to 10 p.m. week days and on Saturday mornings so that those who work days can attend.

Work Out Program

The educational background of each student will be individually evaluated and a program worked out to complete the requirements for a high school diploma. A final examination, required by the State, will determine when a student can be given credit for each course.

In order to make the program available to as many people as possible, the costs are being kept low, said Mr. Livingston. This can be done because Falls institute for Liberal Studies is a non-profit organization operating under the sponsorship of William Penn Center, Fallsington.

All teachers are licensed by the State of Pennsylvania and are certified in the field in which they teach.

Liberal Studies
Those completing the diploma program will be able to go on to the School of Liberal Studies. This school offers courses on the college level.

It is the hope, said Mr. Livingston, of the educators who set up Falls Institute that the school of High School studies will enable people in Delaware Valley to obtain a high school diploma who might never have been able otherwise to finish high school. Registration for classes will be from Jan. 28 to Feb. 1. Classes will begin Feb. 4. The registration fee is $2. Each course taken will cost $16.

Complete information on the Institute and a brochure of courses may be obtained by contacting the Institute at Cypress 5-5096 or Mr. Livingston at Windsor 6-8670.

New Units
The new units are Criminal Investigation Division, under Sgt. Thomas Stewart; Traffic Safety Division and the Maintenance Division under Sgt. Richard Templeton.

Also the chief reports eight new officers were hired as well as a police clerk.

The chief asks that four new officers be appointed this coming year along with four civilian radio operators. The four operators will relieve four officers now assigned to radio work.

Police Cars

Chief Stewart also asks that two additional police cars be purchased and present cars be replaced as needed.

Among the achievements listed by the committee the past year are: the establishment of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, under the direction of Commissioner Fred Hibbs, a member of the

DA seeks writ in burglary case

District Attorney Donald W. VanArtsdalen yesterday applied to Bucks County Court to grant a writ of habeas corpus which will assure the appearance of Albert "Al the Comet" Kunitis for a criminal trial on Jan. 30.

Kunitis, a notorious criminal with many convictions, is accused of burglarizing the Grodzky brothers' safes last summer with four other men.

He is being held in Philadelphia on other criminal charges, and the writ is necessary in order to insure his temporary release to enable him to appear here for trial.

The four other men in the Bristol burglary previously pleaded guilty. Three are serving prison terms, and the fourth is awaiting sentence.

It also points out that Mr. Locke is working on a new pension plan for the officers.

The report of Chief John R. Stewart points out that several new divisions were created last year "to streamline" operations of the force.

The report also lists 58 motions which the board of Commissioners passed during 1956 affecting the Safety committee. The report calls this "A record of achievement of which the Board of Commissioners can be proud."

Club Donates $100 To CAP

A check for $100 was presented to Bristol Squadron No. 101 of the Civil Air Patrol by the Kiwanis Club of Levittown.

Three Delhaas High school students, Air-Cadet Thelma Soulsby, Lt. Patrick Ward, and Lt. Ronald Bantom, representing the CAP addressed a recent meeting of the club. They explained the aims and accomplishments of the patrol.

The money, presented by C. William VanTilburg, vice president of the club, will be used to buy materials to further repair the old school building in which the group meets.

Kiwanians also decided to join the Courier and Times, Reedman Motors, and Weed Chevrolet in sponsoring the Lower Bucks County Soap Box Derby.

The local winner will compete in the All American Soap Box Derby at Akron, Ohio, for several thousand dollars in scholarship prizes.

Scout Troop 48 To Get Charter

Boy Scout troop 48 of Bristol will receive its charter Monday night in ceremonies at the community building in Bristol Terrace.

The troop is also planning a blue and gold banquet Feb. 28. The banquet will be held at Pomerooy's and a guest speaker, a TV personality not yet selected, will appear at the dinner.

Handless Man Appeals For Driver's Tag

An Oakford man who has no hands will have a hearing on an appeal against the Pennsylvania Department of revenue's refusal to grant him a driver's licence on Feb. 1.

President Judge Edward G. Biester set the hearing date on the appeal after Benjamin B. Jarnutowski, 4359 Wood avenue, petitioned Bucks County Court of Common pleas to review the case.

The petition was signed by the no-handed Jarnutowski and presented to court by the law firm of Cadwallader, Darlington and Clark.

Jarnutowski claims he is competent to drive a car, that he needs it for transportation from Oakford to Yardley, where he is employed, and that he has driven a motor vehicle on the premises of his employer, Cold Spring bleachery.

Special Examination

He states that prior to applying for a learner's permit on Aug. 22, he requested and underwent "a special rigorous examination" at Belmont State Police barracks, Philadelphia.

Jarnutowski, in his petition, said it is imperative that he get a driver's license because he needs it for his work and for traveling back and forth to work because "there is no readily available transportation" between Oakford and Yardley.

Thoroughly Examined

He claims that prior to his application for a learner's permit on Aug. 22, he was thoroughly examined by Sgt. Stephen Morris, a member of the safety clinic at Belmont barracks.

On Sept. 19, he said, the state director of highway safety refused to issue him the permit on the grounds that he has no hands. Jarnutowski requested and received a department hearing on Nov. 26 at Philadelphia, and on Dec. 11, the department of revenue again notified him his application was refused.

Shortly after, he began preparation of the court appeal.
